GETHRO STRIKES MOCK

Candidate for Republican Congressional Nomination in Second District
Makes Straightforward Statement of Position.

Boston, May 25.—Fistfuls figured in the lobby over at the State House at Frank J. Bellows' after a verbal attack upon Representative Jacob H. Mock, for telling the rules committee he had been offered a bribe of $50 by the "fall dark man," assaulted the latter.

The row took place in the State House while the committee on rules was hearing more members of the House on their relations with members who had, as alleged, $50 bills in exchange for votes against the anti-buck shop bill.

RUBEROID RED ROOFING

A PERMANENT ROOFING
WITH A PERMANENT COLOR

There is nothing more pleasing to the eye than a Ruberoid Red or Brown Roof on a country home lying in the green setting of Spring and Summer. Equally effective is its harmony with the beautiful colors of Autumn and the slumbering whiteness of Winter.

In all seasons they are a positive protection from weather severities. They combine the demonstrated durability of the Ruberoid Roofing which has been for fifteen years the standard of roofing quality with the additional feature of a permanent ornamental color. This color is not a painted coat, but is impregnated in the roofing during process of manufacture. ANY MANDY MAN CAN APPLY THESE ROOFINGS.

Do not buy any roofing until you have seen for samples of the Colored Ruberoids. We carry them in stock.

Such an attack in the corridors of the House of Representatives startled the 30 or 40 members standing near the elevator. They could scarcely credit their ears.

Representative Jacob H. Mock, standing back with shoulders squared, the thumb of each hand in his pocket, faced Representatives Frank J. Gethro and said: "I did."

But Hagar came the blows. Without another word Gethro struck Mock twice. One hit the jaw, and the other the body.

Representatives George F. Bireh of Milford was the first to jump in between the men. He sent Gethro back into the throng of members, who were upon him and held him fast.

NO EXCUSE FOR CATARRH.

Worst Cases Quickly Cured by Breathing
Hyomei—Guaranteed by Eickert & Well of the Red Cross Pharmacy.

There is really not the slightest excuse for anyone having catarrh, now that Hyomei is so widely known and so easily obtained. The worst cases of catarrh are quickly cured simply by breathing the remedy through the nostrils, which comes with every outfit.

Used in this way for a few minutes four times a day, every particle of air that reaches the nose, throat and lungs is laden with germ-killing and health-giving Hyomei.

The sale of the old-fashioned stomach remedies for catarrh has been reduced to almost nothing since the introduction of Hyomei. Eickert & Wells will tell you that their sales on this out-of-date line have fallen off at least two-thirds in the last few years, while the demand for Hyomei has increased as its curative powers become more widely known.

The complete outfit, consisting of a neat pocket inhaler, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei costs only one dollar, while extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents, making Hyomei the most economical, as well as the most reliable method for curing catarrh.

Eickert & Wells positively guarantee a cure when Hyomei is used in accordance with directions, or they will refund the purchase price.

REAL Spring Chickens

We have just about the finest lot of Spring Chickens at our market today that we have ever been able to get hold of. boiling hot. It might have fared hard for Gethro had not the other members of the House worked through the crowd and urged its members to disperse.

Gethro had been sitting in the House corridor on a sofa near the elevators. He had not spared his expressions as to Mock, and so much "hot air" is said to have been breathed that the members in his vicinity were inclined to take a hand and "shut him up," as one of them stated, when Jacob H. Mock came along from the House.

No sooner had Gethro seen him than he sprang to his feet and at a bound blocked Mock's path. It all passed so quickly that the members could scarcely realize it, but one who stood within five feet of Mock said that the first salutation was from Gethro.

"You——— Did you make the statements about me that appeared in the papers? Did you tell the committee?" was what this member heard, and he is positive as to the first words used.

Gethro had apparently lost his head and was furious.

Mock was calm. He said very coolly, "I did."

He is the larger man of the two, but he never moved a muscle. Gethro's blows came on the instant, and the next minute the excited members would have mobbed him, had it not been for the quick work of Representative Bireh, a big fellow himself, and appeals to a member "the dignity of the general court."

Gethro was borne out of the State House, and Mock refusing to say a word, walked out of the building.

MAY BE NEW INSANITY CURE.

Patient Recovers After Watching Worse
Maniac Than Himself.

Los Angeles, May 25.—Alienists are greatly interested in a "new cure" for insanity, exemplified by the remarkable return to mental vigor of a splendidly intelligent patient after an eleven month violent period had been put into the ward which he occupied.

The cured man is William M. More, Jr., a mining engineer from New York, who on Saturday tried to kill himself by entering his head against the bars of a cell in the city jail, where he had been removed. On Sunday, a Dr. Nicholas was taken to the jail, a living maniac. Morse observed the maniac intently, fell into a deep slumber, and today is in his right mind.

HAD NO FEELING.

Touched a Match to the Terranova Girl; Didn't Flinch.

New York, May 25.—At the trial of Josephine Terranova, who killed her uncle and aunt, Dr. Graeme M. Hammond, author of a number of works on insanity, testified that in making a physical examination of Josephine he had applied a lighted match to her body. She had not flinched and declared that she could not feel pain. This and other tests revealed a state of hemianesthesia—that is, insensibility to sensation on one side of the body.

"I would pronounce her a sufferer from adolescent insanity," said the doctor. He then described adolescent insanity as that type of mania often attacking young people, and agreed with the two experts called Wednesday that the outrages inflicted on the girl at the age of 17 contributed largely to the overthrow of her reason.

Replying to the same hypothetical question which had occupied 45 minutes in the reading Wednesday, while Dr. Evans was on the stand, Dr. Hammond said: "She was mentally unbalanced. She knew the nature, but not the quality of the act of murder. She was afflicted by hallucinations and delusions."

At 11 o'clock the defense rested, and Mr. Ely, in rebuttal, called Mr. Carrara, one of his fellow assistant district attorneys.

Stirring the Verbum Sap.

How joyous the vernal season, with the symmetrical hoop of the base ball writes beginning to ban! Our old school-boys' comradery and fraternity feasts, who makes astronomical observations of the stellar field and diamond for the Houston Post, is back in the saddle, and our vocabulary may be said to be doing nicely under his administration. Indeed, the roots of language are sending up their heads, "blossom into trunk and branch," while the green buds of new flowers of speech appear on every twig and sprout.

In a recent game at Houston between the home nine and a visiting bunch, he tells us, the local pig-skin clouters tabbed three runs in the opening chapter. Mowry worked Marham for a pass, Morris hit to the pitcher, who made a weird toss to Hoffman, Mickey missed, and Massing's scouter to right bounded out of Posse's mitt. Mowry trampled the pin, Newman binged to centre and Morris and Massing tied up at the wheel. All this occurred in a single inning, a single sentence.

In the third stanza there was more added to the list by the same poet, Newman batted, Crawford was hit, Tronstable walked, Marham made a boughsome error, mistaking Jeffries, who was watching for the first baseman, and slugging the pill at him; Newman registered and Crawford counted on a wild pitch. To the fifth stanza there was more added to the list by the same poet, Newman batted, Crawford was hit, Tronstable walked, Marham made a boughsome error, mistaking Jeffries, who was watching for the first baseman, and slugging the pill at him; Newman registered and Crawford counted on a wild pitch.

In the sixth round Brisket looped the loop. The enemy were sent to the sickle six nine times and only once during the inning. They were sent without megaphone distance of the counting station. This happened in the fifth session, when, after two were laid away, Palm hit safe. Gasford thought Marham was a snap and lobbed the ball over the heart of the oyster, and the lengthy twirler laced a peach to Massing's garden for two bases, Palm being caught at the pan by a narrow margin by a quick relay.

Here is something in the way of fresh language to cure that tired intellectual feeling and make pedagogues and purists sit up and take notice.—St. Louis Republic.

NICHOLAS HESITATING AGAIN.

Car May Now Refuse to Grant Even Partial Amnesty.

St. Petersburg, May 25.—The government seems to be hesitating about executing the resolution taken a week ago to grant partial amnesty. The official statement issued Wednesday night, justifying the government in not granting amnesty, seems to be designed to pave the way for a refusal on the ground that the release of political prisoners deserving freedom can be left to the local authorities.

Nothing could be more irritating to the Liberals than for the emperor to delegate the discretion of granting pardon to the very men responsible for the wholesale arrests which occurred during the winter, and such a decision is sure to arouse a storm in the lower house.

The hand of Gen. Tropp, who engineered the protests of the branches of the League of the Russian People ("Black Hundred") in the interior, is seen in this new shift, and again raises the spectre of a counter revolution.

CHICAGO NOW TAKES HAND

And Rubs 20th Straight De- feat Into Boston

Boston, May 25.—The Chicago White Sox struck their finger in the Boston pie yesterday afternoon and pulled out a plum in the shape of a 7 to 5 victory. Incidentally, it may be remarked, it was the 20th straight defeat for the Collins bunch, of which nineteen were on the home grounds. The Chicago team will this afternoon go at the home team with the laudable ambition to assist them in breaking another world's record—a record made by the Pittsburg 1890 team, which lost 23 straight games, as the record runs.

The heavy hammering of the visitors gave them the game yesterday afternoon, the veteran Cy Young being lambasted so hard at the start that he had to be taken out of the box. Winter was substituted. Alroek was on the firing line for the White Sox.

NEWSPAPER EDITOR MADE HELPLESS

URIC-O CURED HIM.

Rheumatism Tortured and Crippled Mr. Theo. D.
Hadley of Kennett Square, Pa.

Dear Friend,
You will remember my writing you some time ago regarding Uric-O for rheumatism. I took your advice and purchased three bottles from my local druggist and began its use at once. Favorable effects were experienced and day by day I improved. I have used the three bottles and can truthfully state that I am a well man.

Uric-O has cured in me what I had a case of that has ever existed. My suffering for months was intense, some nights not able to get on my feet, and my head to do all with my left hand to my head—had to do all with my right hand. My trouble was inflammatory rheumatism; had settled in my right arm and shoulder, crippling as I thought permanently. This is the third letter I have written, a thing I hardly expected to be able to do again, as I did not think I could possibly recover from the terrible effects of the disease, never knowing I am past the four score year by the way to the "New Jerusalem." I am happy to state that I am recovering so long with the most painful form of rheumatism, that Uric-O has cured me and nearly normal conditions exist. My former strength is recovering, and yet for all I am 80 years old, sleep well again, eat well and am hale and hearty as a man at the age of fifty. I thank you heartily for recommending Uric-O to me. I can now recommend it to my friends.

Theo. H. Hadley, Kennett Square, Pa.

This rheumatism specific is sold at 15 cents a bottle, the weaker treatment. Uric-O is a liquid taken in spoonful doses three times daily and must be used for rheumatism only. Ask your druggist for samples and circulars explaining the treatment.

The Red Cross Pharmacy is the Uric-O store in Barre.
